

Guildhall Job Complications

- 1 A soot-stained mason offers urgent work, then denies knowing the sealed plans.
- 2 The clerk announces your names, although nobody here should recognize you.
- 3 Rival apprentices steal the contract, dropping keys to a forbidden archive.
- 4 A guildmaster pays in gemstones stamped with tomorrow's royal execution date.
- 5 The job board bleeds ink around one posting marked already completed.
- 6 An old porter asks protection from coworkers wearing his dead face.
- 7 The roofers barricade upstairs, demanding their stolen thunder back.
- 8 A polite inspector fines the party for crimes listed in advance.
- 9 The guild seal burns anyone who signs without reading the margins.
- 10 A courier arrives twice, each carrying different instructions from the same patron.
- 11 The basement forge starts printing badges for a guild not founded yet.
- 12 Your employer vanishes mid-handshake, leaving payment and a desperate apology.